

Town problems

My city is a wonderful place to live, but even here there are several problems. First, there are quite a few homeless people in the city center and on its outskirts. Secondly, there is a lot of litter on the streets. Thirdly, there are a lot of traffic jams. Sometimes it is simply impossible to get to the other side of the city due to the large number of cars.

If I were a mayor, I would build special dormitories so that people do not have to spend the night on the street. I would give out special coupons for food, clothes and other necessary things. To reduce the amount of garbage in the city, I would install more garbage cans, create pleasant bonuses for people who clean the streets of the city. I would fine people who do not clean up their trash. To get rid of traffic jams, I would increase the number of roads and reduce the number of traffic lights.

In my opinion, this will greatly improve life in my city. But if I could do one thing, I would build a dormitory for the homeless and give everyone coupons for different things. Because I believe that everyone deserves a second chance, no matter what kind of past they have. I believe, there would be much more good people around, there would be no crime. Grateful people would try themselves to make our town better.
